

Seminar on Prosody

Friday 1 June 2007, Big conference room, Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen
Organized by the Nederlandse Vereniging voor Fonetische Wetenschappen

PROGRAMME

- 9.00 – 9.25 Welcome – Coffee and tea
9.25 Opening
- 9.30 Intonational realisation of topic and focus in child Dutch
Aoju Chen, Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen
- 10.00 The prosodic marking of the contrast between restrictive and appositive clause in Dutch
Vincent van Heuven, Leiden University Centre for Linguistics
- 10.30 Prosodic marking of information status in L1 and L2. A comparative study of Dutch and French
Laurent Rasier, Université Catholique de Louvain
- 11.00 coffee and tea
- 11.30 Prosody – a missing link between phonetic detail and phonemic categories?
Claudia Kuzla, Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen
- 12.00 Effects of dialect and context on the realization of German pitch accents
Bettina Braun, Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen
- 12.30 – 12.45 meeting of NVFW members
- 12.45 – 14.00 lunch
- 14.00 Music and lyrics: a comparative study of the tone-melody correspondence in Thai and Cantonese popular songs
Vincie Ho, University of Hongkong
- 14.30 Prosodic information in audiovisual spoken-word recognition
Alexandra Jesse, Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen
- 15.00 coffee and tea
- 15.30 Arguments for ToDI
Carlos Gussenhoven, Radboud Universiteit Nijmegen
- 16.00 The importance of prosody for TRP projection
Wieneke Wesseling, University of Amsterdam
- 16.30 drinks